

BEFORE AND AFTER THE NOVEMBER ELECTION.

The attention of the people has, during the past decade or two, been frequently attracted to the operation of practical politics. They have seen a party great in power "spread like the green bay tree," rewarding unworthy favorites with position and emolument to the exclusion of men of unquestioned fitness, but whose modesty of conduct equaled their merit. The unavoidable outcome of all this was to disgust the public and to generate a desire for a change of men and measures in the administration of public affairs, and in hopeful fulfillment of that desire for a change the popular verdict last November was cast for Cleveland and Hendricks. Two months have elapsed since the inauguration of Mr. Cleveland, and many needed reforms have been already inaugurated, but the good work goes bravely on, and if the people will only be patient they will see in the near future the realization of their hopes.

The Internal Revenue system, as the people see and comprehend it, has been but lightly touched as yet, but it has been intimated that many changes will be made between now and midsummer, and we may expect to see Capt. Farley, who in the main has proved himself honest and efficient, but who suffered himself to be deceived by the practices of his party into the censurable act of levying campaign assessments upon his subordinates during the late presidential campaign, or what was equivalent to a levy, personally inviting his subordinates to contribute their $5 each to the Blaine campaign fund, the intelligent subordinate feeling, with reason, that his failure to comply with the invitation of his chief to contribute would result either in absolute dismissal from the service or in his failure to secure an assignment, which would practically amount to the same thing,--be requested to step down and out (or resign). And yet we behold Capt. Farley and many other Federal officials of high degree not only willing but anxious to continue in the service of their country under the administration of the man Cleveland, who they insisted should not reign over them, and whose advent to power they predicted would be marked with such dire results to the best interests of the country as made the average Republican quake with fear at the bare contemplation of the fact.

We congratulate the gentlemen upon their rapid recovery from their terrible fright, and commend to them a careful study of the sentiment recently expressed by that eminent Republican, Senator Joseph R. Hawley, that the "tail should follow the head," in other words, that the people having voted for a change of men, and a Democratic President and cabinet having been inducted into office, the subordinate offices should be filled by men of like politics, and thus throw the responsibility where the people intended, upon the Democratic party. We are ready to assume the responsibility, together with such honor and emoluments as may attach thereto, and beg our lately alarmed Republican friends not to be again frightened at the mention of "bloody rebel brigadiers," especially since the ghost of the Rebel Confederacy has even ceased to disport itself before the hitherto heated imagination of Republican campaign shriekers.

CHARLES EGBERT CRADDOCK.

The literary world was completely surprised the other day by the announcement that "Charles Egbert Craddock," the author of "In the Tennessee Mountains," and other interesting stories and sketches pertaining to that secluded and romantic region, was a lady. Before the disclosure of her personality no reader of her serials in the Atlantic doubted that the writer was a man. The critics spoke of "Mr. Craddock" as the most original and powerful of the Southern school of tale-tellers, that his descriptions of the mountain scenery were extraordinarily beautiful and dignified, and his portraits of the mountaineers and scenes of the mountains were clear and poetic. They were right, but it is not sure they would have been right had they known the sex of the author. "Mr. Craddock" is Miss Mary M. Murfree, of St. Louis. She was born near Murfreesboro, Tennessee, where she lived until her father moved with his family to St. Louis. She spent five teen summers in the mountains of East Tennessee, after material for her literary productions, studying closely the rough people and their sublime and grand environments. She is a remarkable woman, has suddenly become famous, and has attracted the admiration of a multitude of readers.

Miss Murfree chose a masculine title, probably, to get a start, to obviate the excessive prejudice that is prevalent against blue-stockings; like George Eliot. She is another exemplification of the power of woman, and of the unreasonableness and baseness of the inveterate prepossessions with which men regard her, and which are traces of darkness and savagery. As the light of civilization increases, the mists of error are compelled to depart. After a while women will no longer be thought to have no soul, or not much, or treated as beasts of burden, as machines of labor, and servants of their lords; but their limitations will fall off, they will vote, occupy their true position, be equal with men in rights and high attainments.

A GRAND farewell banquet will be given in London to our retiring Minister, James Russell Lowell. Mr. Lowell has made an exemplary ambassador, an honor to his country. No objections have been asserted against his official course, save by the Anglophobes, who are opposed even to the recognition of England in any way. Mr. Lowell has won great popularity with the better classes of the English people, especially with the scholars and literateurs. He has been acceptable to them as well as loyal and subservient to his own great native land which he thinks so much of and the extraordinary destiny of which he is thoroughly mindful. A more desirable representative at St. James' than Mr. Lowell is not to be found.

Russia and England have agreed to settle their dispute by arbitration and not by ruinous war. Neither country is keen to fight, and each has tried to bluff the other. The Czar was defiant, and so was the British Government. Mr. Gladstone delivered an eloquent speech last week in the House of Commons, in which he said the honor of England was at stake, and appealed to the House for a vote of credit. The vote was given heartily and by a good majority, to the amount of $55,000,000, in a lump. By his remarks on this occasion the great Premier has regained his hold upon the affections and judgment of his constituents, which he came uncomfortably near losing by reason of the unsuccessful Sudan Campaign.

MANY local papers throughout the State are clamoring loudly and with their usual inconsideration for the restoration of the whipping-post in Kentucky. One of the rantingest company called it "a glorious civilization," and another regarded it as the taxpayer's salvation, which latter is a valid argument to the average Kentuckian. A pleasant contrast to all this, is these few words from Mr. Robert Woods, the Educational Editor of the Breckenridge News:

"A correspondent of this paper writes that he is in favor of the whipping-post. We trust that the majority of the good people of Kentucky will not allow such an inhuman practice to be re-established in our commonwealth."

Mr. W. S. PATE, a merchant of Louisville, had his stock of goods attached and his store closed while he was at Hot Springs, Arkansas, sick. The newspapers at the time published accounts of the matter and reports detrimental to the credit and good standing of Mr. Pate. In this issue we publish his statement, also the statements of prominent business men of Louisville, which refute the reports published and circulated at the time and show that he still retains the confidence of the most prominent business men with whom he had been dealing.

The Prince and Princess of Wales have returned from their Irish tour. Their visit to the shamrock and peatly isle will probably prove resultant of no little good to both peer and peasant. The Kilkenny Moderator said of the visit: "Disaffection has retreated far away into the background, slunk like some ugly and savage beast to its dark lair, impressed deeply with the knowledge that this is no time for it to exhibit in the light of day its very unlovely form."

ADMIRAL JOUETT, of the United States Navy, acted with much judgment in putting down the Panama trouble. He surprised the insurgents and took prisoner their leader, and protected American life and interests, without violating in the least particular any right permitted by treaty.

CHIEF JUSTICE Thomas Henry Hines is preparing an elaborate report for the Southern Bivouac, of his and Morgan's notorious escape from the Columbus penitentiary. Moral: the learned Judge means to be a candidate for re-election next year.

REV. T. D. LEWIS, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at Auburn last Thursday. Those who knew him in this circuit, will remember him as a faithful Christian and a preacher of ability, and will regret to hear of his decease.

The whipping-post advocates declare, as an instance, that the lash is necessary to prevent wife-beating. At the same time, if woman-suffrage were proposed, these hallooing advocates would hoot at the idea.

Mr. KELLY has declined the Italian Mission, and will probably be sent to Austria. He was not acceptable to the Italian government, on account of his denunciation of it several years ago.

Mr. W. T. BELL, of Muhlenberg county, is mentioned by the Echo as a suitable man to be the Democratic candidate for the Senate in this district. He is said to be capable and honest.

Mr. CECIL T. SUTTON, of Fordville, at one time editor of this paper, has assumed editorial control of the Breckenridge News, vice Wallace Gruelle. He is a young man of talent.

THE annual financial statement shows a deficit in the exchequer of England of 1,049,000 pounds sterling.

MINISTER LOWELL will unveil the bust of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, in Westminster Abbey, to-morrow.

JUDGE J. C. WICKLIFFE, of Nelson county, will be the next District Attorney for Kentucky.

JOHN S. WILLIAMS, of Indiana, has been appointed Third Auditor of the Treasury.

THE public debt was reduced $4,000,000 last month.

STATE NEWS.

Circuit Court is in session at Hawesville.

The Cynthiana Times has changed to a semi-weekly.

Moses Caton will be hanged at Morgantown to-morrow for the murder of his wife.

The Greenback Senatorial and Legislative Conventions will be held at Morgantown, Monday, May the 11th.

Judge Simmons, proprietor of the Henderson Reporter, will move his material, press, &c., to Mississippi.

The new suspension bridge at Henderson is about completed and trains will be running over it in a few days.

Mrs. Mollie Davenport, a pensioner who lived alone, was found dead in her room in Louisville, after she had been dead four days.

Col. Will S. Hays has been appointed general superintendent of Crab Orchard Springs, and will conduct that resort during the coming summer.

Mr. John Lovell, a prominent citizen living near Franklin, died from an overdose of morphine Thursday night. He had been drinking hard for several days.

The city council of Hopkinsville has passed an ordinance forbidding any obstruction on or across the sidewalk or street, such as boxes, barrels, machinery, signs, &c.

Mrs. Robinson, mother of Capt. John A. Robinson, Superintendent of the Green and Barren River Navigation Company, died near Bowling Green, one day last week.

At Chicago, Ky., Wm. Ferrill, while drunk and lying on the track, was run over by a passing train and his body horribly mangled. He was about thirty years of age.

The motion for a new trial in the case of Andy Wepler for the murder of Harry Clay, in Louisville, has been withdrawn. Wepler was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

Dr. R. Pennington has withdrawn from the Senatorial contest in our sister district. This leaves only one candidate, Dr. Warfield, of Cloverport. The convention will be held at Hardinsburg, May the 11th.

The Kentucky Baptist Publishing Company, of Owensboro, have purchased the press, engine, material &c., of the defunct Henderson Sentinel. Price, paid $1,200, which is considered quite a bargain.

Mr. A. C. Glover, son of Walker Glover, of Ranger, Texas, and nephew of Mr. R. H. Glover, of Calhoun, died in the latter place on Wednesday, April 23d, 1885, of Spinal Meningitis, in the 23d year of his age.

J. T. Griffith, Marshal of Owensboro, and Rev. F. P. Purcell, editor of the Kentucky Baptist, are at loggerheads over an article published in that paper reflecting on the city officers, in regard to the enforcement of the Sunday law in that city.

A young man at Shady Grove, Livingston county, while out in the woods was attacked by three men, supposed to be a part of the convicts who escaped at Dawson, sometime ago, who leveled their weapons on him and divested him of every particle of clothing. He was compelled to travel several miles with only a lap-rug to hide his nakedness.

Mr. Perry White, residing six miles from Spring Lake, met with a serious accident in felling a rail tree last Friday. When the tree started to fall a limb broke off and struck White on the leg between the knee and foot, breaking every bone in the leg. Dr. L. T. Cox was summoned and set the broken bones, and at last accounts the patient was resting easy. --Sunbeam

One day last week Brack Duggins, living in the Whitworth neighborhood, found a dead wolf on his farm. For some time before he had been missing some of his sheep. It bothered him so that he concluded to set a bait for the intruder. Accordingly, he poisoned a piece of meat and put it out, and the dead wolf was the result. John Whitworth and others of that neighborhood saw the wolf, and can vouch for the truthfulness of this statement. --Sunbeam

Rockport.

May 4, 1885.

Editor Herald: The municipal election here Saturday resulted in a hearty re-endorsement of the old regime, and the election of S. O. Maple as marshal.

Farm work is two weeks ahead, though we had a backward spring and an unusually large crop is being prepared for. Tobacco plants are fine; most of the corn is planted; oats are doing well; pastures are coming in for use, and there never was a finer prospect for fruit. Ceres smiles profusely.

Reverends Browder and Brandon have been assisting Rev. J. C. Brandon in a series of meetings here. Rev. A. B. Smith will preach at the Baptist church this year.

Deputy Sheriff Loney came down upon his man here the other night and scooped him in handsomely.

It was reported that rock would be quarried by the convicts at Aldrie for the branch penitentiary at Edyville, but they will probably go to South Carolina.

Mr. Jackson and daughter have returned from the New Orleans Exposition, delighted with their trip through the Sunny South. They visited several cities and many points of interest. The vast rice fields and sugar plantations with their palatial residences, the noble rivers and bays, beautiful landscapes and charming scenery, everywhere breathing the fragrance of Southern flowers which rise like a steam of distilled perfumes, must have delighted them indeed. It is no wonder the ante-bellum Puritan from the cold rock of the North, looked with envy and chagrin upon this land of beauty, chivalry and flowers.

SUGGS.

Beds Notes.

May the 4th, 1885.

Editor Herald: The farmers in this vicinity are most done planting corn, a good crop is anticipated.

Rev. J. F. McDonald, of Hartford, preached here last Sunday, at 11 o'clock A. M. and at 4 P. M., to a large and attentive audience.

The Sunday school at this place is flourishing under the management of Bro. Milligan and Bro. S. W. Bennett. Dr. Isaac Foster accompanied by his daughter, Minnie, left for Louisville yesterday to purchase spring goods for his son, J. B. Foster.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting of the Hartford Circuit will be held at No Creek church the fourth Saturday and Sunday in July. Geo. R. Browder, presiding elder.

There is not much excitement at present over the election, but once and awhile I hear some one say hurrah for uncle Bill.

To the many readers of the HERALD, I wish to say; if you can not get up a club, send the HERALD to your friend in another State. It will cost you only one dollar and fifty cents. Do your friend an untold favor, and help the editor to push forward the good work of his useful calling.

Hurrah for Cleveland and Coleman, is the voice of O. W. E. N.

Kentucky Patents.

The following patents were granted for the week ending May 24, 1885, reported expressly for this paper by Jos. H. Hunter, Solicitor of American and Foreign Patents, 936 F Street, Washington, D. C.:

J. C. Yeiser, Junction City, Ky., coupling; Chas. Barnes, Dayton, automatic fire extinguishing apparatus; Geo. W. Howell, Covington, vehicle wheel; R. G. Roland, Beech Grove, Ind.; T. E. C. Brinly, Sr. and F. E. Heine, Louisville, fence post; Jas. W. Meikle, Louisville, wheel plow; E. J. Roberts, Ashland, car brake; Frederick Vischer, Mt. Sterling, knife for harvesting tobacco.

Wool Carding.

Hartford Water Mills' carding machine, with W. T. Johnson, the experienced carder, in charge, will be in first-class order, ready to card, about the 15th day of May.

"A God-send is Ely's Cream Balm," writes Mrs. M. A. Jackson, of Portsmouth, N. H., on May 22, 1885. I had Catarrh for three years; I had tried nearly all remedies but to no purpose. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed quite freely and I thought the sores in it would never heal. Your Balm has cured me. This preparation is not a liquid or a snuff, and is easily applied. Price 50 cents. See advertisement.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that I have this day relinquished all control over my children, Pious Taylor, Don Taylor and Peter Taylor, and authorize each of them to trade and do business for him or herself, and to receive and enjoy the fruits of their labor.

BEN. W. TAYLOR.

Notice.

R. S. Mosley's Executor, Plaintiff, vs. R. S. Mosley's Heirs, Defendants. All persons having claims against the estate of R. S. Mosley, deceased are hereby notified to produce the same properly proven, to the undersigned Master Commissioner of said court on or before Saturday May 23d, 1885, or they will be forever barred.

JOHN P. BARRETT, Master Commissioner.

Mass Meetings.

The County Executive Committee of Ohio, Muhlenberg and Butler counties, composing the 8th Senatorial District, are requested to hold County Conventions at such times and places as they may deem expedient, to elect delegates to the Republican National Convention, to be held at Rockport, Ky., Saturday, June 20th, 1885.

Col. Jesse Harper, of Danville, Ill., a prominent Greenback orator, will address the Greenback Convention in Morgantown, Ky., on Monday, May 11th, 1885.

Madisonville Items.

April 28th, 1885.

Editor Herald: As you have no correspondent from this place, I ask space for a few lines.

We have one of the prettiest little cities live in Western Kentucky. The location is not only a beautiful one, but a healthy one. It contains four nice churches, an opera house, skating rink, blacksmith shops, tobacco and buggy factories, business houses, and a countless number of pretty ladies. The dwelling houses are not crowded together as in many towns and cities, but almost every house contains a nice yard and garden, as if there was room enough in this world for everybody. Then we have any amount of mineral water, which insures a person a long and happy life. And our school buildings, they are just splendid. We have two good schools here, one in charge of Prof. Smith, and the Normal, which is in charge of Prof. Cheek. Students are coming in almost every week. Since live in Western Kentucky, I think the school, I think, will prove very beneficial to the town, for a goodly number have moved in for the purpose of educating their children.

Prohibition, which has been the cause of a good deal of excitement, has full sway now; but it took fining and jailing to stop the sale of whisky. Prohibition passed last August, but by a small majority and the Anti Prohibitionists didn't think that the other side was strong enough to make their new law a success, but it proved otherwise. It is true some of them do miss their toddy now and then, but we have had a very quiet place ever since it took effect.

Circuit Court has been going on for the past two weeks. I'll tell you they wake things up down here. It's no laughing matter to come before a jury here to answer for a crime. We all listened attentively to the trial of Champ Gist, who was charged with the murder of young Winstead, on the 7th of last August. It was one of the greatest criminal cases ever tried here, for both the defendant and the prosecution had able attorneys. The defendant had the Hon. Daniel Voorhees, from Ind., the Hon. Polk Laffoon, of this place, and other eminent lawyers. The evening that Senator Voorhees spoke, an unusual crowd gathered in and near the court house to hear and see Indiana's greatest lawyer. He made quite an able speech, which lasted for two and a half hours. There is something remarkable in his appearance. You have read of large headed men, but he has a head about as large as the largest; and his large head covered with long, coarse hair protruding a little above his high collar, reminded one that he was in the midst of a Fourth of July picnic in the time of Henry Clay. Gist was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, but as public opinion favors his acquittal, I don't think he will serve his time.

Respectfully, DICKIE.

Centertown.

MAY 4th, 1885.

Editor Herald: Viewing matters and things from a cheerful standpoint, we have but little cause for complaint just now. Aside from the rather cool nights and the very heavy rainfall which we had on the night of the 30th ult., the spring has been unusually seasonable.

Corn planting has been moving on splendidly.

Jake Warden will commence plowing corn in a few days.

Business in town has been quite brisk for a week or two.

Our merchants have good stocks of goods and are selling lively.

W. P. Rowe & Son had eight or ten wagon loads of goods delivered at Ceralva recently.

Will Rone has taken a position behind the counters at Rowe & Son's. He is quite at home in his new place.

Messrs. Tally and Trausdale, of Paris, Tenn., general agents for a combination plow, have been in town about ten days. They are offering to sell farm or county rights. They have a good plow and are clever gentlemen.

Esquire W. I. Rowe was called on the 24th ult., to settle the right of possession in a case between the widow Tooley and Samuel Pinkston, on Rough river.

Mr. Ford and little daughter, Edna, came on a visit to J. N. Hines, his son-in-law, Mrs. Hines and her sister, Miss Alice, accompanied them on their return yesterday.

Will Ford has gone to work at the saw mill with Ford & Son.

Stroud & Dexter are quarrying rock, with which to build a furnace for their saw mill, which they say they will move to this place from Bremen in a short time.

Mrs. Mary Ashby is teaching a subscription school at Walton's Creek school house.

Aunt Katie Igleheart has been called to the bedside of her son, W. A. Perkins, at Rockport, having learned that he was very sick at that place.

Quite a number of Persons from Centertown and vicinity attended the quarterly meeting at Point Pleasant yesterday. Rev. Browder, the presiding elder, it is said, delivered a very interesting discourse on the occasion.

Rev. Bird Weaver will preach a sermon on Baptism on next Sunday, at Green River Union, after which he will administer the ordinance of baptism to the converts of his last winter's meeting; and at night he will preach on Communism, and then he will administer the Lord's supper.

BORN--To the wife of Ira Fulkerson, on the 24th ult., a son. Also, on the 25th of May, a daughter.

John Leisure and family visited relatives near Buckhorn Saturday.

Dr. Patterson and Jesse Williams spoke to a small audience here Friday evening last. As small as the crowd was, however, they made it quite interesting.

The HERALD job rooms are fully equipped for the execution of all kinds of job printing.

Wm. Foster, living near town, has plowed over about twenty acres of corn. Mr. Foster is a first-class farmer and believes in early planting.

Dr. B. N. Patterson, Hons J. S. Williams and W. D. Coleman, Democratic candidates for the Legislature, spoke at the Court House Monday.

Mrs. Dr. H. S. Lindley, of Buford, an account of whose illness we gave last week, is still very low, but little hope is entertained of her recovery.

We regret to chronicle the serious and protracted illness of Mrs. Brown. At this writing she is very low and but little hope is entertained of her recovery.

Mrs. Dr. H. F. Bean and sister, Miss Annie Tabor, of Sulphur Springs, passed through town yesterday on their way home from a visit to Point Pleasant.

Prof. G. H. Baker and Mr. G. S. Drake will debate the question, "Which is the greater evil, Intemperance or war?" at Taylortown, Saturday night, May 16th, 1885.

Rev. J. S. Coleman administered the ordinance of baptism by immersion to Miss Dora Gibson, in Rough river, last Sunday evening, in the presence of a large audience of people.

The ladies of the Baptist church will meet at the residence of Hon. E. D. Walker, on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, to arrange for the dinner to be given on the first day of Circuit Court.

Mrs. Amanda Wallace, of Sulphur Springs, is quite sick. She had the misfortune last fall to break one of her arms, and being advanced in years has never recovered from the effects of it.

R. Campbell gives us another beautiful, truthful temperance poem this week. It should be read and heeded by all young men. Drink ruins more young men than all other vices combined.

Mr. Z. Wayne Griffin is still confined to his room with but little change in his condition. At this writing, however, he is thought to be better than for several days past. His friends anxiously await his recovery.

The Livermore Amateur Dramatic Company gave an entertainment last Thursday night for the benefit of the Good Templars' Lodge of that place. The characters were all well rendered and the play was a success.

Reverend G. J. Bean will preach at No Creek church next Sabbath day, at 11 o'clock in the morning. There will be a church meeting there next Saturday evening. All of the church members are expected to be in attendance.

Our Republican friends held a convention at the Court House Monday and appointed delegates to the Rockport Senatorial Convention for June 20th, and instructed them to vote for our fellow-townsmen, E. C. Hubbard.

Remember the Hartford Water Mills and Hartford Water Mill? These are the places to get the cheapest flour in town, grades considered, from the finest fancy patent to the lowest grades. Call and get our prices. Also, meal, cheap corn, feed meal, shipstuf and bran, (cheapest flour in town).

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Hartford College, last Thursday, Prof. M. H. Rhoads and Wayland Alexander, of West Kentucky College, South Carrollton, were engaged to teach the next session of Hartford College.

Rev. J. S. Coleman will lecture at Court Hill next Thursday night, on which occasion he will accept the pastorate of the Baptist church here. This subject was postponed from last Sunday night. Turn out and give him a full house.

Dr. R. W. Brandon, an old and respected citizen of Caneyville, died at the residence of his son-in-law, V. B. Nelson Louisville, Ky., last Saturday. His remains were brought to Caneyville Sunday and interred. He had been afflicted for a long while with pulmonary troubles.

Rolla Bishop, son of Samuel K. Bishop, of the Centertown precinct, went to Caneyville on the 23d ult. and on the 26th ult. was taken with pneumonia. Dr. Pendleton was called to see him and went Saturday returning Sunday. He pronounces him in a very dangerous condition.

Wade Daniel was tried in two cases last week, one for assault and the other for carrying concealed weapons, in which he was fined $20. in the former and $30. and ten days imprisonment in the latter. He expects to reply the fines and ask pardon of the Governor for the imprisonment.

"Wat" Stevens, a young farmer who lives a few miles above town has a cow that in one year furnished 125 pounds of butter in addition to milk and butter for his family use, and he had no other cow giving milk during the time. The butter was sold at 20 and 25 cents per pound. This shows that a good milk cow is a valuable piece of property to have around.

Mr. John D. White, of White Run neighborhood, called to see us Saturday. He had several specimens of the lead and silver ore from the Whittinghill lands in that vicinity. Mr. White informed us that the mineral had been tested at Washington and New York, and the result in each test is 70 per cent. of pure silver. Arrangements are being made to form a company to open mines and work it.

The residence and contents of David J. Axton, living near Rockport, Ind., were consumed by fire recently. Mr. Axton was in Rockport at the time and but little plunder was saved. Notwithstanding Mr. Axton is blessed with an abundance of this world's goods, the loss will be keenly felt by him, and was aggregated $10,000. His many friends and relatives in this, his native county, will regret to hear of his misfortune.

Woodson Brumfield, probably the oldest citizen of the county, died at his home on the Hardinsburg road about six miles from here last Saturday morning at eleven o'clock. From the best information we can obtain he was 90 years old, though his exact age is not known. He came to this country more than thirty years ago, and was quite an old man then. The remains were interred in the Heavens graveyard Sunday afternoon.

The protracted meeting at this place, conducted by Rev. J. F. McDonald, pastor and Rev. B. D. Cockrell, of Owensboro, which had been in progress for a week and a half, closed last Wednesday night. The meeting resulted in 4 conversions and 10 additions to the church. Bro. Cockrell is an able and eloquent delineator of the history of divine truth. The church is much revived and it is regretted that the meeting could not continue longer.

George McDaniel, of Rosine, was arrested and incarcerated in jail for stealing coal from the coal train of the C. & O. S. W. railroad, last week. His trial came up last Wednesday, but was continued until Friday on account of witnesses. On Friday morning the case was dismissed before the witnesses arrived. McDaniel is a lad of some fourteen summers, and if guilty of the accusation, we would advise him to go his way and sin no more. George Kuykendall, who was arrested on the same charge, gave bond and skipped out.

We find in perusing a copy of the Davies county Democrat, published at Washington, Ind., a very complimentary notice of the firm of Neal & Eckridge, dealers in dry goods, groceries and general merchandise. Mr. Neal, the senior partner, is well known to us, is a native of Kentucky and was in the mercantile business at Caneyville, Grayson county, for a number of years. While at Caneyville, Mr. Neal acted as agent for the HERALD, in which capacity he acted with energy, promptness and honesty, and in his removal we lost one of our best agents. We wish the firm that success that industry, energy and honesty should merit.

As announced last week, the Ross Belle gave an excursion from Hartford to Livermore and return last Saturday. Owing to inclemency of the weather the day before, the party was not as large as it would have been, but suffice it to say, it was large enough to have a deal of fun. The Hartford Cornet Band was on hand and dispensed music for the occasion. The boat was detained on her way down by one of the tiller ropes giving way, making it about one o'clock reaching Livermore, giving the excursionists only a half an hour's stay in that place. The band played several pieces in Livermore, after which Mr. Hugh Fields, the proprietor of the hotel, treated the boys to lemonade and cigars, as none of them ever take anything stronger. The party was heartily welcomed by the citizens of Livermore. Many amusing accidents occurred on the trip, such as shooting at ducks, muskrats, turkeys, etc. In one instance a large turkey gobble flew across the river just in front of the boat, and one of the party grabbed a gun and tried to shoot it, but found out that the gun was empty. We tender thanks to the Captain and crew for an exceedingly pleasant trip.

At a convention of the Republicans of Ohio county, held at the Court House, May 4th, 1885, the House was called to order by C. M. Pendleton, Chairman County Committee. Wm. Milligan, Esq., was elected chairman of the convention and E. D. Guffy, secretary. By motion and a unanimous vote the nomination of a candidate for Representative was postponed until the first Monday of June, at which time there will be a mass convention at Hartford. The chairman appointed the following delegates to the Rockport Convention: For Horse Branch, John D. Miller; Fordville, Samuel Keown; Ellis, Joe Borman; Sulphur Springs, Wm. Tabor; Centertown, W. L. Rowe; Hartford, Geo. C. Wedding; Beaver Dam, D. J. Rhoads and Wm. G. Duncan for the laborers; Rosine, Dr. L. T. Cox; Bartlett, Ben Bartlett; Buford, Chas. Hupley; Cromwell, Melvin Taylor; Cool Springs, A. R. Stanley; At Rockport, Eugene P. James; Stewart, Luther Rogers, and all other Republicans from any precinct, who may desire to attend. Hon. Geo. C. Wedding in one of his neat and telling speeches, presented and moved to adopt the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, We fully appreciate the importance of selecting true, faithful, honest, and able men to represent us in the next Legislature of Kentucky; and

WHEREAS, We recognize in our fellow-citizen, Hon. E. C. Hubbard, all the essential characteristics necessary to a true, faithful, honest and able legislator, therefore be it

Resolved, That the delegates selected by this convention, to the Senatorial Convention, to be held at Rockport, Ky., on the 20th of June next, be instructed to cast the vote of this county for Hon. E. C. Hubbard, as the Republican and laboring man's candidate for the State Senate in the 8th District of Kentucky.

The Resolutions were carried without dissent. Mr. Hubbard entertained the audience with a speech of an hour and a half in response to the Resolutions in which he stated that he would accept the nomination if tendered him by the Rockport Convention. The meeting then adjourned.

The Hartford Library.

Under the management of Messrs. E. C. Hubbard and J. H. Weller, and the librarianship of Mr. S. A. Williams, is now open and ready for patronage. It contains nearly 400 choice volumes, from the most reliable publishers in the country. The books are well bound and of clear print. It is a selection, composed of histories, novels of a delectable order, say, biographies, and books of travel, adventure, science, and wholesome advice. There is not a bad apple in the lot. One notable feature of the collection is, the large proportion of literature for the young. If the people patronize the library sufficiently, the managers say they will increase considerably the number and variety of their stock. Every lover of reading will embrace this opportunity of cheaply gratifying his desire. Dickens is there, and Thackeray, Macaulay, Carlyle, Gibbon, Plutarch, Hawthorne, Motley, Smiles, Mrs. Alcott, the English Men of Letters contributors, etc., etc., for the entertainment and edification of all who don't mind the small fee of privilege, $2 a year, and who will promise on their honor to keep their hands scrupulously clean while handling the valuable wares of select and master spirits.

Mad Dogs.

Mad dogs have been seen and killed in several parts of the county, recently, but not before they had bitten other dogs or stock. One came to the residence of Esquire P. H. Alford, near White Run, about two or three weeks ago, biting a calf and sheep of his, but leaving before it could be killed. Mr. Alford, with horse and gun, followed after it and finally killed it, but not until after it had bitten several other dogs and a hog. All of the dogs and stock bitten by it have since gone mad and been killed, except the calf of Mr. Alford.

The dogs that were bitten in and around town by the mad dog that passed through town about two weeks ago, have not as yet shown any signs of hydrophobia. People over the county should keep a watch over their dogs, lest the mad dog rage may become general over the county, and serious loss to life and property result therefrom.

Matrimonially Mixed.

Rufus Brown married Miss Kate Rodgers; Commodore Brown, son of Wm. Brown, who is a brother to Rufus Brown, married Miss Zora Rodgers, sister to Mrs. Kate Brown and Mrs. Zora Brown, married Lycurgus James. Mr. Brown and Mrs. Brown, wife of Wm. Brown, died, after which Mr. Brown and Mrs. James became man and wife. Then, to complicate matters still more, a few days ago Lewis Rodgers, a brother to Mrs. Kate, Zora and Ss Brown, married Miss Clara Brown, daughter of Wm. Brown.

These unions that have existed a sufficient time, have all proved fruitful, and it is natural to presume the recent one will keep up the family reputation. In such an event, will some one please tell us the relationship existing between the different families? The parties are residents of this county.

Elijah Thomas Hocker, son of Elijah Hocker, died last Thursday morning at Hopkinsville. A dispatch received a day or so before announced his serious illness and some of his relatives reached there before his death. The remains were brought home for interment, which took place Friday.

Elijah was a very intelligent youth, but when near grown he lost his health and was seriously ill during the latter part of 1882 and the year 1883, which finally unbalanced his mind, so much so that February 5th, 1884, he was sent to the Asylum at Hopkinsville with the vain hope that he might be restored. He lingered along and finally succumbed to that dread monster, Bright's Disease.

A generous father—Government pap.

Girls don't have to buy their chewing gum.

A gentleman, who has recently lost an eye, begs to intimate that he has now a "vacancy for a pupil."

"Yes," he said, "before marriage I thought I could live on love. I am now living on my father-in-law."

People who go up in a balloon to get a general conception of the world, are generally considered as "taken up with one another."

"He that loves noise must buy a pig," says a Spanish proverb. In most cases, however, a baby will answer just as well.

Tennyson says: "Men are God's tools." So, however, who call at newspaper offices are not. They never leave.

A lady on being asked why she called her two canaries Wheeler and Wilson, replied, "Because neither was a singer."

Wee Fanny bit her tongue one day and came in crying bitterly. "What is it?" asked her mother. Oh, mamma! she said, "my teeth stepped on my tongue!"

The razor says: "The care should be placed as not to be higher than the eyebrows or lower than the tip of the nose." People who are dressing for a party should not forget this.

A line in one of Moore's songs runs thus: "Our couch shall be roses, be spanned with dew." To which a sensible girl replied, "I would give me the rheumatic, and so it would you."

Chauncey Dewey in Ireland met a boy who was a dunkey. One of the traveling party said, "Boy, stop beating your brother." Quick as a flash came the reply, "I won't, father."

In Memoriam.

Died, at his home three miles northwest of Fordville, Tuesday, April 21st, 1885, of a broken constitution, Edward T. Miller, in the 74th year of his age.

Mr. Miller has been a church member for the past 54 years and at the time of his death was in good standing in the church. He leaves a wife in her 65th year and nine living children, six sons and three daughters.

On the morning of the 23d, his remains were laid in the Thomas Gilmore cemetery on the farm of Richard V. Wells. Deceased was a carpenter by trade, and possessed all the qualities of a Christian gentleman. Friends.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Not a Single Gray Hair.

"You may laugh and think me a vain thing," writes Mrs. J. R. C., of San Francisco, to a friend in this city, "but I have not a gray hair in my head, and yet (and say) I am fifty and a day. Recently my hair was not only quite gray but quite thin. Parker's Hair Balm—made in New York, I think—did wonders for me. Try it if you have occasion. It really does what I say, and restores the color also. Not a single, not a gray, highly perfumed. Only reliable one. dressing. 174

"Some one has blundered!" Can it be possible?

The New York Herald says: "If General Grant should recover from a disease which should give him not to have been what it has been described, then his medical attendants will be expected to explain the reasons for one of the most remarkable instances of 'discrepancy ever recounted in the history of medical practice.'"

The other day an eminent young physician in the last stages of consumption, unable longer to talk, called for pen and paper and wrote this advice to his physicians: "Make dying comfortable."

This seems to have been the sole purpose of General Grant's attending physicians. They were making dying comfortable, but they were not curing their patient. He amazes them by getting better!

The utter failure rightly to diagnose and properly to treat General Grant's disease is a serious blunder, emphasizing what has often been said, that professional treatment, being purely experimental, is just as likely to be wrong as right.

Had the general an ulcer on his arm the physicians would have treated it scientifically, very scientifically. He might have recovered or they might have cut his arm off. Some dear old soul of a grandmother, however, might have treated the sore by some "old woman's remedy" and healed it, but there would have been no "professional science" in such a proceeding, as her remedy would not be one recognized by the code!

The general's physicians excuse themselves, we are told, because the condition of the throat was hidden from sight. There are thousands of cases where disease is hidden from sight, where the symptoms are very obscure and conflicting. The physician will treat everyday's symptoms but they do not cure, and finally the patient dies. Then they discover they have made a mistake! A horrible mistake! The other day a prominent merchant in a neighboring city was found dead in bed. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that one of his other vital organs was entirely decayed, and yet his physicians had been treating him for heart disease!

Some one has blundered.

For weeks the American public have been waiting the unwelcome tidings of General Grant's death. To-day, the general is up and around and riding out.

People get well often in spite of what their doctors say and do. Why? By will power? No. By faith? No.

They live because outside the medical profession and medical pretense there are effective remedial agencies in which, though "unrecognized" by the code, have supreme power over disease, and in thousands of cases win triumphs where the so-called scientific treatment utterly fails.

A prominent ex-cabinet officer is to-day on the very edge of the grave, suffering from an extreme disorder of the liver. His doctors know they cannot cure him. They simply are making dying comfortable.

The agony of death in many cases is read by surrounding friends in screams of pain, in convulsions of nerve, in spasms of torture—the fixed eye, the chilly breath, the dreadful coughing, the bloody sweat—the supreme inflictions of pitiless disease upon a helpless body—indicate the limitations of professional skill!

Seven-tenths of the deaths of this country every year are from hepatic and renal disorders, over which physicians have no little power. They will give this, and the other thing they will make dying comfortable, but they know they cannot cure and yet they will not permit the use of remedies "unauthorized" by their code, whether they are allopathic or homeopathic.

If the system, as is common at this time of the year, has no tone, and one has tired and depressed feelings, the doctor will tell you that the blood needs purifying, but he will not tell you, what he knows to be true, that the blood is impure because the liver and kidneys are not performing their blood-purifying functions.

The failure of the physicians in General Grant's case ought to have an eye-opening effect upon the public. It ought to see the futility of trusting entirely to a profession whose practice is so largely experimental. The test of merit is success and when any agency has won a record proved by the testimony of prominent men and women in all ranks of society, it stands to reason that such a preparation is worthy of universal confidence. Who has not heard of it? Who has not used it? Who can gainsay the statement that it has wrought greater benefit for mankind than anything ever discovered inside the ranks of the medical profession? And yet many physicians who are bound hand and foot to their code will not allow nor will they prescribe the use of Warner's safe cure. Nevertheless, spite of their small-minded bigotry, it multiplies instances of its singular merit by thousands every day, rests satisfied with the record it has won, and challenges comparison with the record of the most reputable physician.

It is a terrible thing to lose our friends, especially if we find out afterwards that they might have been saved.

We are glad General Grant is getting well. He does not live, and in living he will emphasize the fact that physicians do not have a monopoly over disease; that "scientific medicine," as called, is not infallible; that all remedial agencies were not born with doctors and will not die with them.

Liberty Enlightening the World.

This new Wonder of the World, which is now being loaded on the French transport Isere for shipment to this country, is the largest statue in the world. Some idea of its magnitude may be obtained from the fact that forty persons found standing room within the head. A six foot man standing on the level of the lips only just reached the eyebrow. While workmen were employed on the crown of her head they seemed to be making a huge sugar-caldron, and they jumped with ease in and out the tip of the nose. Fifteen people might sit round the flame of the torch, which elevation can be reached by a spiral staircase within the outstretched arm.

The London Daily News, in speaking of it, says: "It is out and away the largest statue of modern times. The Colossus of Rhodes was nothing to it. It could carry the 'Bavaria' or the 'Hermann' in its arms. It towers to the skies from the yard of the Rue de Chazelles, where it has been eight years in construction, and the view from its coronet sweeps clear of the six-story houses and beyond the walls of Paris."

The weight of this stupendous statue is 440,000 pounds, of which 176,000 pounds are copper and the remainder wrought-iron. It is expected to arrive in New York about the 25th of May, where it will be erected on Bedloe's Island, this being the location selected for it by Gen. W. T. Sherman, who was appointed by the President to make the selection. When placed in position it will loom up 365 feet above tide-water, the height of the statue being 151.2 feet, that of the pedestal 91 feet, and foundation 32.10 feet.

This imposing statue, higher than the enormous towers of the great Brooklyn Bridge or the steeple of Trinity Church, which is the loftiest in the city of New York,—higher, in fact, than any of the colossal statues of antiquity,—by its rare artistic proportions, as well as by its stupendous dimensions, will add another to the Wonders of the World. A word should be said of its artistic merit. The pose, stride, and gesture, with its classic face, are pronounced perfect; the drapery is both massive and fine, and in some parts as delicate and silky in effect as if wrought with a fine chisel on the smallest scale.

The conception and execution of this great work are due to the great French sculptor, M. Bartholdi, who has devoted his forty years of his life and most of his fortune to this great work, and whose generous impulses, which must be on a scale commensurate with this noble work, prompted him to make such a gift to the United States. The committee in charge of the construction of the base and pedestal for the reception of this great work are in want of funds for its completion, and have prepared a miniature statuette, six inches in height, the figure being made of bronze, the pedestal of nickel silver, which they are now delivering to subscribers throughout the United States for the small sum of $1 each. Aside from its being a lasting souvenir of this colossal statue, it will ornament our homes and bear testimony that we have contributed to the completion of one of the grandest works of modern times. All remittances should be addressed to Richard Butler, Secretary American Committee of the Statue of Liberty, No. 33 Mercer Street, New York. The committee are also prepared to furnish a model, in same metal, twelve inches in height, at $5 each, delivered.

We feel assured our people will be only too eager to testify their grateful sense of the friendliness of this magnificent offer on the part of the French people, and to reciprocate the kindly and liberal sentiments in which it originated, by thus adding in an active prosecution of the labors that may be required to give the statue an appropriate base and pedestal. Now is the time to do it. Whoever wishes to have the honor and pleasure of contributing to the erection of the grandest statue of any age, to say nothing of the sentiment that should be welcomed and encouraged, must act promptly, for the money will be raised as sure as the sun rises. Every subscriber sending $1 will be supplied with a miniature counter part of this great and imperishable statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World."

MOTHER'S FRIEND. A Precious Boon to Woman.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

I most earnestly entreat every female expecting to be confined to use Mother's Friend. Coupled with this entreaty I will add that during a long obstetrical practice (forty years), I have never known it to fail to produce a safe and quick delivery.

A lady from one of the counties of Middle Georgia, who has been acting midwife for many years, writes: "I have disposed of all my children by using your Mother's Friend, and I am delighted with it. In every instance where I have been used, its effects have been all that I could ask. I consider it a great blessing."

A gentleman writes: "My wife used your Mother's Friend at her fourth confinement, and her testimony is that she passed through it with one-half the suffering of other women. Her confinement was quick and recovered from its effects in much less time. She also recommended it to a lady friend who was about to be confined for the first time, and she says: 'I have never seen any one pass through this great trial with so much ease and so little suffering.'"

A QUICK AND EASY TIME.

A distinguished physician of Mississippi writes: "Every one expecting to be confined should use the Mother's Friend, for during a long obstetrical practice I have never known it to fail to produce a quick and safe delivery."

This remedy is one about which we cannot publish certificates, but it is a most wonderful instrument to be used after the first two or three months.

Tells What He Knows of WINTERSMITH'S CHILL CURE.

Sir: I value a rule I have observed for many years, the value of your remedy prompt me to say, in reply to your request, what I know of your Chill Cure. The personal experience of efficacy I had, and the good result of its effects I observed on Mr. Wintersmith, who, for more than fifteen years, has been foreman of my office, induced me to test it in my family. The results have been entirely satisfactory. The first case was of a young man, who, I believe every one knows, has been tried with temporary relief—the chills returning periodically and seemingly with increased severity. Your cure broke them at once, and there has been no recurrence of them for more than six months. The other case was of a milder form, and yielded more readily to other remedies; but the chills would return at intervals until your medicine was used, since which time no more have returned. I have had to judge, I do not hesitate to express my belief that your Chill Cure is a valuable specific for the febrile diseases of the West.

Very respectfully, W. N. HALDEMAN.
